AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headaches and sleepless nights. I first began having trouble when I was 16, and they have increased as I grew older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me, I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."

Mrs. Gus Vogel, 6605 Pelouze Street, Detroit, Michigan.

A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sells-Floto Will Be Here Sept. 29

They're still doing it—the small boys of the cities and the towns—still carrying water to the elephants, but this venerable and beloved method of earning entrance to the big show would be taboo, were it not for the baby elephants in the herd of twenty-one with Sells-Floto circus, coming to old Fair Grounds, Monday, Sept. 29.

For Sells-Floto carries water wagons and tanks, and only because of the fact that Tom Thumb, Charlie Ed and the other one and two-year-old pets among the junior pachyderms are tempted by any circus, with costuming of people and animals of a beauty and quality hitherto deemed impossible by big top directors.

Many of the Sells-Floto elephants take part in "The Bride and the Beasts" the biggest and most gorgeously embellished spectacle ever attempted by any circus, with costuming of people and animals of a beauty and quality hitherto deemed impossible by big top directors.

FARRELL WINNER IN GOLF ELIMINATIONS

(By The Associated Press)
FRENCH LICK, Ind., Sept. 15.—John Farrell of New York today proved to be the best golfer in the rounds of the national professional championship, not only leading the 32 survivors with a score of 140 for the 36 holes but setting a course record of 68 in the morning round and a record of 33 for the first nine holes of the 6,471 yard links whose par is 36—36—72.

In spite of his spectacular performance his total was only one stroke better than that of the other play-ers, and he was not alone in the New York equalled the course record in the afternoon. Tying Brady for second place at 141 were Walter Hagen, British open champion, who scored 138 for the second nine in the morning for a 70; Bobby Cruikshank who scored one of three thirty nines; Frances Gillet who had rounds of 71 and 70; and Harry Hampton of Canton, Ohio, who was the only man to score 68 for the second nine in the morning for a 70; Bobby Cruikshank who scored one of three thirty nines; Frances Gillet who had rounds of 71 and 70; and Harry Hampton of Canton, Ohio, who was the only man to score 68 for the second nine in the morning for a 70.

Ask Democrats to Donate Dollars

The need of funds with which to press the National Democratic campaign, during the remaining seven weeks and to promote the bright prospects of the election of Davis and Bryan and the election of a Democratic Congress has impelled the National Democratic committee and Chairman Clem L. Shaver to effect local organization all over the country and particularly in the south. Democratic States to solicit, receive and forward funds for the campaign. In the course of the organization now rapidly being effected all over the country, R. A. James, Jr., has been designated as chairman for the city of Danville. This city's quota is fixed at $5,000, and appeals are made to all Democrats who desire to promote the prospects of the election of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan to contribute to this fund. All desiring to contribute to the fund are directed to send them to "National Democratic Finance Committee, The Register and The Bee, and the amounts will be forwarded promptly to Washington and acknowledgment made through the columns of these papers. With a quota of $5,000 for Danville, this will mean an average of 25 cents per capita of the city's population. The fund can be raised if the Democrats of the city will be prompt and as liberal as practicable with their contributions. Much larger sums have been subscribed with ease in other local drives and campaigns, but in this instance the effect will be made to undertake a canvass for the funds. The party authorities feel that the real Democrats of Danville will respond promptly when informed that the funds are really and urgently needed. The national campaign is in progress, and hundreds of sneakers will soon be on the stump throughout the entire country, but besides that appeal literature is being prepared which will influence the votes of hundreds of thousands. The real fight must be made in the twelve or fifteen States, those in which the changing of a small percentage of the voters to the Democratic ticket and against the Republican and independent tickets will be sufficient to give the electors of such States to Davis and Bryan and assure their election. To perfect a close and efficient organization in these doubtful States and swing them to the Democrats will require the expenditure of considerable funds, and it is in order to assure such organization and such desirable results that the appeal is being broadcast. Democrats make your dollars work for Davis!

STRANDED IN ARCTIC, BUT U. S. CAN'T AID

By LAIRLY BOARDMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Wrangell Island again is housing the broken remnants of a band of explorers—more victims of the international controversy over ownership of that barren, ice-bound stretch of land in the frozen arctic.

The stranded adventurers are facing the prospect of death by cold and starvation, or arrest by the Russian soviet government.

An appeal to go to their rescue has been made to the United States coast guard.

But the coast guard, crippled by the loss of its last ice fighting ship, the cutter "Bear," is powerless to take action—even though such action were justified or advisable.

Wrangell Island was discovered in 1881 by Read Admiral W. E. Reynolds, former coast guard commander, who took possession in the name of the United States.

Russia, however, has claimed the island by virtue of its geographical position, off the coast of northern Siberia.

In September, 1921, an expedition sponsored by the Canadian explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, arrived at Wrangell Island on the schooner "Silver Wave" and immediately hoisted the English flag.

When the "Silver Wave" sailed away it left four white men and one Eskimo woman in possession. They came the problem of getting them supplies. Every effort failed.

A year later one of Stefansson's traveling companions, Harold Noyce, chartered the motor schooner "Donaldson" and headed a rescue expedition.

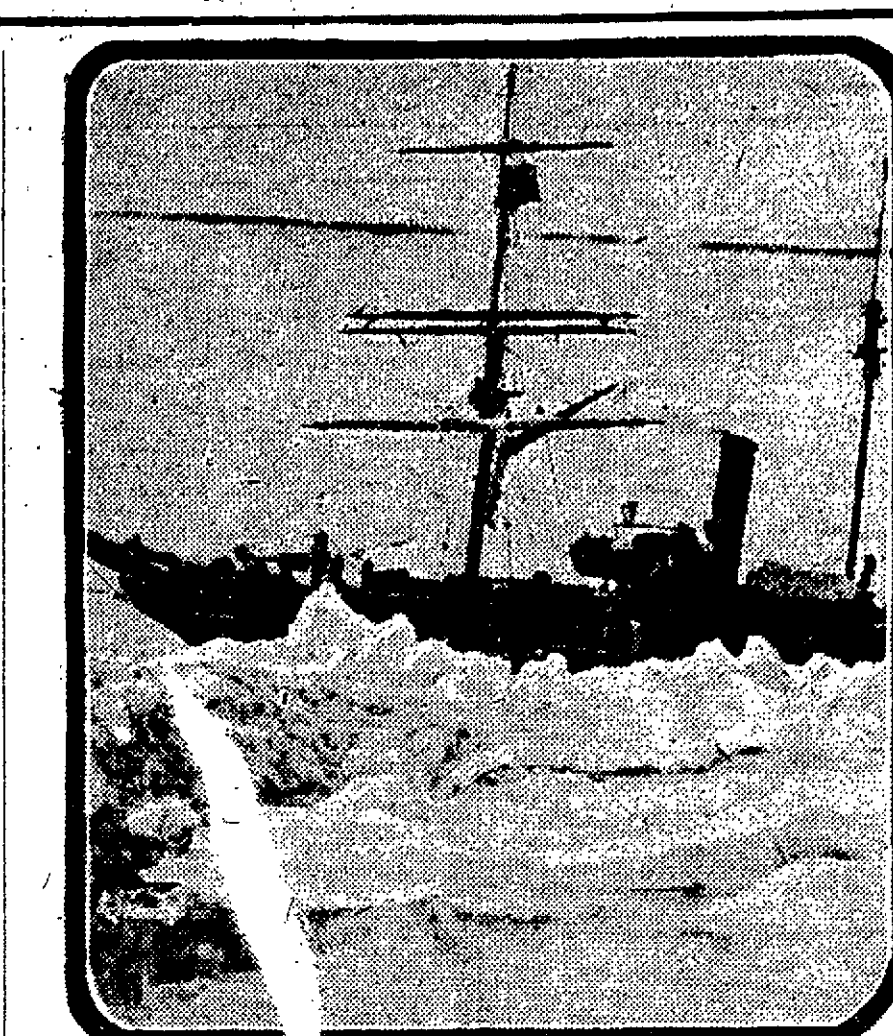

Arriving at the island he found the four men dead. In a bottle they had left a paper on which were written their names together with the statement that they "claimed Wrangell Island in the name of King George."

The "Donaldson" sailed away, taking the Eskimo woman but leaving a party of 15 or 16 in possession.

This year the coast guard received an appeal from Brewer, an Englishman, claiming to be the vessel's last trip, that its long years of service were over.

Following this came the report that the soviet government was sending a schooner to Wrangell, under orders to arrest all non-Russians found on the island.

Officials at Washington are waiting the outcome—waiting to see whether the soviet government, an-

Officials at Washington are waiting the outcome—waiting to see whether the soviet government, angered at what it may consider a breach of faith, will take the stranded colonists into custody; whether the Noyce expedition will be able to crash through the ice floes and either hold possession of the island or carry away its colonists; or whether neither the soviet ship nor Noyce's schooner will be able to break through the ice barrier, and the 15 or 16 souls on the island will be left to perish like their predecessors.

MAJESTIC OPENS WITH FULL HOUSES

The reopening of the Majestic theatre yesterday after a five months spring and summer closing demonstrated the popularity of this well known show-house and incidentally indicated that the masses of the people were eager for amusement and diversion of the varied and attractive type offered by the management. Three shows yesterday—a matinee from 3:30 to 5 at popular prices, and two shows at night, one beginning at 7:30 and the other at 9—indicated just how hungry the people are for amusement and diversion after a long season of dispensing with it.

The bill is a dual one, vaudeville and pictures. For the autumn opening bill, Benjie Reed and his rattling clever specialties and a big lot of laughs, was followed by a western playlet, "Out West." The vaudeville specialties opened with two of the most laughable blackface comedians on the boards this season. Negro dialect and character are always enjoyed in this city, but particularly when they are well and cleverly handled. The appreciation of the audience was amply attested throughout this act.

Myers and Young, an amusing pair of fun-makers in bits of comedy acting, dialogue and nonsense, new to local audiences made a hit with the crowd, which was a full house at the first show and hardly fewer at the 9 o'clock show.

An act not included in the published program was that in which Evelyn Jones and Master Ralph Reed won the favor of the audience by their really excellent work. Their ventriloquism demonstrated their precocity admirably.

The Jazz Land Trio—Reed, Richards, and Myers—interpolated plenty of "jazz" and kept the house in a roar of laughter. This act is made for fun and well made, as its reception proved.

Other skits on the evening's bill included Frances Jester in a series of jazz songs and Babe Leone in singing numbers, all surcharged with "pop."

The picture program was the two-act affair, "The Fiddling Doll," a Universal picture based on the magazine story of that name. This was followed by the kinograph review of the week's news in pictures. The management of M. Franks Sommer, under whose direction for years the theatre has won renewed popularity. During the interval since last season about $2,000 worth of scenery and equipment, while its orchestra under the direction of George H. Seavers is again contributing to the music, with the organization intact. The term Majestic orchestra is sufficient introduction or commendation for this excellent four-piece group of musicians. The bill will be changed tomorrow and again on Friday, but with the same contributors to the vaudeville program, but in different skits and stunts.

Officers claim our navy is ready for the scan yard instead of for the scrap.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Despite his approval of federal orders, as voiced by his address a few weeks ago to representatives of the fraternal congress who called at the White House, President Coolidge is not a "joiner." He belongs to no lodge, societies or fraternal organizations and knows no secret grips, passwords or incantations.

By accident rather than design on the part of the Republican convention, Coolidge's reputation, General Dawes also is an outsider in fraternal affairs, never having ridden the goat at an initiation or otherwise qualified to wear the jewelry and insignia of any secret order.

If, as suggested, Dawes' failure to line up with the great mass of Americans as a "lodge member" was due to his alleged aversion to keeping secrets rather than his reluctance to taking an oath, then Coolidge's non-participation may be explained by the reverse formula, that while Coolidge could keep all the secrets—that is one of the best things Cal does—he doesn't like to swear to do so.

The oath of office is declared to be the only oath ever indulged in by the president.

All four Democratic and Independent candidates for president and vice-president, by contrast, are lodge members.

Davis, LaFollette and Wheeler are Masons, each having gone through all the grades up to an including the thirty-second degree.

Bryan is an Odd Fellow.

Although the candidates' score is imperfect in the matter of fraternal allegiance, 100 per cent. membership is claimed in the matter of religious affiliations.

Davis and Dawes are Presbyterians. Bryan and LaFollette are Baptists. Coolidge is a Congregationalist and Wheeler a Methodist.

Harding was the first Baptist ever sent to the White House and Coolidge the first Congregationalist.

Davis, should he be elected, would enable the Presbyterians to tie the record of the Episcopalians, who today head the list with eight presidents to the Presbyterians' seven.

Next in line are the Unitarians, with four, and the Methodists with three. The Dutch Reformed Church has had two and the Campbellites one.

To help Republicans "stick to Coolidge," C. O. G. headquarters is getting out millions of little stickers, about the size of postage stamps, bearing the admonition "Keep Cool." Coolidge's picture on the stamp immediately suggests that the way to keep cool is to keep Coolidge.

One of the most interesting occasions at the White House in recent months got notice only in the society columns of Washington papers. Yet it was the over-Sunday visit, September 12, of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

On the face of it, and so far as any publicity about it went, the Lowden visit was purely a social one. Yet it was a social visit of a different kind.

Coolidge was ending together from sheer social regard for each other. Particularly after Lowden declined the honor of second place on the ticket with Coolidge.

Could a transcript of their conversation be obtained, it would be easy to get odds that it dealt principally with the State of Illinois politics. Lowden, if he will, can be a big help to the C. O. G.

If he does, the Illinois campaign certainly will be no "social affair."

Last Member of Danville Ball Club Has Left

With the departure yesterday of Catcher Dave Cochlin, the members of the Danville baseball club have all returned to their homes in various sections of the east—both in the north and south. However, Herb Murphy, team manager and player of the club, with Mrs. Murphy and their little daughter are still in Danville. They will remain here until the end of the month, straightening up their affairs before returning to their home in Thomasville, Ga., for the winter, and where Mr. Murphy spends a great deal of his time fishing and hunting.

Although the Danville club is on the market for sale or for the sale of part interest, no definite offers have as yet been made. It was learned this morning. A number of queries have been received but these have proven to be no more than "feeler" or persons seeking to learn the sale price of the club. Of the number of inquiries to Mr. Murphy, he regards none of them as worth while considering.

KILLING OF 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL RECALLS MURDER OF PASTOR AND CHOIR SINGER

Many Similarities Between New Murder Mystery at New Brunswick and That Surrounding Killing of Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, Wife of Church Sexton.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 16.—Detectives investigating the killing of 15-year-old Elizabeth Johnson, of Kingston whose body was discovered under a scrub bush, by the shore of Carmel lake at Princeton Saturday, have found many similarities between the case and the murder of Rev. Edward Hall and his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, who were killed in the Phillips farm two years ago today.

The absence of tangible clues and the uncertainty as to whether the girl had been killed where she lay or elsewhere, served to recall the earlier crime.

Her body was laid carefully on a newspaper, recalling the manner in which the bodies of Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were arranged in a circumstance which caused investigators to suspect that some one with a knowledge of undertaking had been present at the killing.

The girl was slain with a small caliber revolver pressed close to her temple, according to detectives.

Joseph A. Johnson, the girl's father, has told detectives of a man whom he seeks committing the crime to avenge himself of a fancied wrong. The father said he thought his daughter ran away to seek work as she was restless during the summer school vacation and had expressed the wish to earn her living.

HAL-MILLS MURDER STILL BEING PROBED

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 16.—Two years after the discovery, under a stunted crab apple tree on an abandoned farm, of the bodies of the Rev. Edward Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of New Brunswick, and his pretty choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of the church sexton, the authorities of Somerset county, in which the bodies were found, are probing toward a solution of the mystery.

As midnight approached, two years ago, the minister and the humble choir singer, were shot to death. The double murder revealed the fact that a passionate extra-marital love affair had flamed between them and burning letters exchanged by them were made public after their death.

After weeks of bungled investigation by the authorities of two counties, Somerset and Middlesex, during which the bodies were found, the murder was committed was established.

It was agreed, however, that jealousy was the motive for the crime. Accusations were made on the fact that the couple would have led to a discovery of the murderer or murderers were deliberately suppressed. Mrs. Mills, the husband of the murdered choir singer still holds the opinion that a lot of money was spent to hush it up.

But it was learned today the Somerset county authorities have never ceased working on the case. Mills remained in New Brunswick, although he is not now sexton of the church, and facts that would have led to a discovery of the murderer or murderers were deliberately suppressed. Mrs. Mills, the husband of the murdered choir singer still holds the opinion that a lot of money was spent to hush it up.

But it was learned today the Somerset county authorities have never ceased working on the case. Mills remained in New Brunswick, although he is not now sexton of the church, and facts that would have led to a discovery of the murderer or murderers were deliberately suppressed. ## Good Morning Judge!

Charges preferred against three youths to the effect that they cut the air hose on a Southern freight train near the South Pass track a few nights ago were dismissed this morning by Police Magistrate C. K. Carter, for want of definite evidence.

The state could produce no witness who could swear that any of the three had committed the act which, under the Virginia law is a felony. There was, however, a good deal of substantial evidence offered by L. Wilson, southern railroad detective and Officer F. G. Towell who arrested the three boys. Charges of trespass were sustained however, and the three were fined $3 and costs. The defendants were W. A. Coleman, G. T. McClanahan and C. A. Hughes.

Cross warrants charging reckless driving against Dr. J. E. Taylor and T. P. Woolridge of Lynchburg were dismissed this morning on the absence of witnesses as to any recklessness. The warrants followed an accident, which happened near the mouth of the iron bridge on Sunday evening when Taylor, proceeding south, and Woolridge, proceeding north, collided.

A R. Graves, colored, was sentenced to serve three months in jail and fined $51 and costs for a violation of the Logan act.

Head On Block She Makes Brother Act as Executioner

LAFAYETTE, La., Sept. 16.—Miss Anastasia Boudreaux, eighteen, is near death in a sanitarium here with wounds on her neck, inflicted with an axe, according to the story she told and which her five-year-old brother verified. The latter hacked his sister at her wish and by her direction.

The two had been left at home alone. The girl said she was tired of living and wanted to die. She said little brother, then set her own hand on a chop knife and directed what put the blow as to be struck.

The blow not proving deadly, she is said again to have directed the second and then the third blow. The girl said she was tired of living and wanted to die. She said little brother, then set her own hand on a chop knife and directed what put the blow as to be struck.

PRINCE WINS $650 BET ON HORSE RACE

If British Polo Team Loses Today, Royal Visitor Will Leave Long Island Thru.

(By The Associated Press)
SLOSSET, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The Prince of Wales will sit again in the royal box at Meadowbrook at 4 o'clock this afternoon and witness the second of the polo matches between America and England. If the British team should defeat the American team, thus tying the score, the prince will remain on Long Island to see the final match. But it is no secret that the prince will leave Long Island Thursday.

The prince's last time out from sports and social entertainments yesterday to inspect the editorial and mechanical rooms of the publishing house at Garden City founded in 1930 by Walter Hines Page, ambassador to the court of St. James from 1913 to 1918. The prince had read with great interest the "Life and Letters" of Mr. Page, who was an apostle of closer relations between Britain and America, and wanted to visit the Doubleday Page plant.

Escorted through the building by Arthur Page, son of the ambassador, the prince talked with several of the editors and the publisher, and gained knowledge of their craft to draw from one a question as to where he had become acquainted with the technique of printing. The prince explained that he was a member of the Royal Household and that he had been in England since the prince's personal collection his winnings.

After the race and his visit to Garden City, the prince will visit New York. Accompanied by Major O. N. Solbert and Major E. D. Metcalfe, he motored to the city and as the guest of Rodman Wanamaker 2nd, stopped for tea at the Racquet and Tennis club on Park avenue.

In the evening the prince was guest at an elaborate dinner party at the Oyster Bay home of Mr. Wanamaker, where forty guests were entertained. Members of a musical comedy gave a "command" performance.

A mind reader asked the prince to think of certain numbers and a name. Thereupon the entertainer told the prince the numbers he had selected and that the name he had selected was "Johnny."

"You're uncanny," the prince said. "I'm afraid you're able to read all my thoughts."

ALCORN SPEAKS AT CONVENTION OF THE LEGION

Veterans of Two Wars Hear Deeds of Valor Compared

ST. PAUL, Sept. 16.—Veterans of the Spanish-American and World wars heard the fortunes of battle, deeds of valor and the hardships of suffering of campaigns compared over more than two decades when Albert D. Alcorn, retiring commander-in-chief of the United Spanish war veterans today addressed the convention of the American Legion.

"When you boys went to the World war, you remember that you were heroes in the eyes of those you were leaving behind," said Mr. Alcorn. "If you were fortunate to be among the first to return from foreign fields, you were still heroes, but if among the last, you saw very few celebrations in your honor. You were brought back to the country, mustered out, and sent to your respective homes with barely mention of your service. The novelty of receiving returning troops had worn off. The people soon forgot. Many of your old jobs awaiting you."

"The same thing applied to the Spanish-American War period. They call it a little war, but they forget the days of 1898 when the people of the Eastern coast and the Gulf coast were terrified and unweary with fear of a bombardment by the Spanish fleet that had disappeared from the Azores and which was thought to be somewhere in the vicinity of our shores prepared to strike our most vulnerable spot."

"They forget that the bankers of the coast cities were so frightened and panic stricken that they were shipping their money to interior points for safety."

"They forget that there were many anxious moments in homes far away when the 312,000 volunteers came at that time."

"They forget that the terrible ravages of fever in camps in our own country caused a greater percentage of fatalities than in any other war period."

"They forget that when we came home they were proud of us because the war was short; that we never lost a battle, never lost a flag, and never retreated from a single foot of ground."

"They forget that the display of fighting qualities of the men of that period first opened the eyes of the world that this nation was amply able to back, with force, if necessary, its claims of freedom and justice and humanity."

"We can see no reason therefore for discrimination against us in favor of the veterans of any other war, which this nation has been engaged in. The same debt of gratitude and the same duty of service is due us."

"So, my comrades of the World war, if you wear a comradeship in a war that was 200 per cent. voluntary, the veterans of which are grossly discriminated against, put yourselves in his place. Remember, twenty years have elapsed between his war and your war. Do not think that because we are proud of our service and ask for equal consideration, that we are attempting to place obstructions in the way of your obtaining what is rightly due you."

"Numerically, we are only a small unit as compared with you. Your power is in proportion to your numerical strength. We recognize that we are older, veterans, we need your continued help and support in order that we may receive something like equal consideration with the veterans of all wars."

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotion Revealed in Private Letters

I can't tell you, Sally dear, what a peculiar feeling I had when I went down on Hollywood boulevard the other day to do some shopping. Most of the buildings are low, some of them quite artistic, and some of the bank buildings quite imposing. Sunset boulevard and even Santa Monica boulevard are in time going to be quite as busy streets. Yet I doubt if in the eyes of the thousand and one persons who step off the Santa Fe and other railroads entering Los Angeles each day, there is any other street than Hollywood boulevard.

These people, as I did, expect to see New York's famous Rialto transplanted out here in the foothills with all its dust and noise and tawdriness left behind. They expect the little street will retain all the essence of New York's theatrical atmosphere, all the echoes of its Bohemian gaiety, and all the whispers of its spicy scandal.

Hollywood boulevard! No other street in all the world passes the little white house on the outskirts of Malabar, yet reaches to the edge of the gold mines and oil fields of Mexico.

No other thoroughfare climbs the hill at Mont Matre to Sacre Coeur, where all Paris can be seen below. No other road crosses the Sierrita de Santa Monica, yet is traversed by the myriads of people in parking. No other highway in all the world is held up to criticism by a pulpitist who knows nothing about it in the farthing and of always winter snows, and has its temptations pictured by impassioned orators with a Freudian complex of the repressed desire which multiply in the tropics.

In the longsome places of the earth, Hollywood boulevard is known as the place where Gaiety and Love are continually passing on dancing feet. In Hollywood anything can happen, and generally does—just as it happens in every other corner of the globe. But because the screen is a part of the amusement life of every city, every town, every hamlet, one comes to know the shadowy men and women that flit across it quite as well as one does one's nearest and dearest friends.

Living in Hollywood is like looking behind the scenes in the theatre where one always is disillusioned at finding carpenters, scene shifters, mechanics, electricians doing the monotonous work which must be done even in the Land of Make Believe.

Already, Sally, I have found good friends and charming people among the moving picture colony. I think I am going to like it, but as yet I have only skirted along the outside, and of course I have your cautioning old friend never makes up her mind until the thing has been well analyzed and a rational judgment deduced therefrom.

There, that sounds more like pendant old Lee, doesn't it? I love you, dear. Write me about everyone, especially Leslie.

WHY PARIS IS "DIFFERENT"

SOME REASONS WHY PARIS IS THE INSPIRATION OF THE WORLD WHEN IT COMES TO FASHION.

By M. THERESA BONNEY
PARIS, Sept. 16.—What buyers for leading American houses buy in Paris and advertise as "direct from Paris" and what your neighbor the tourist brings home as the "dancer's dress" are representative of the real Parisian creations.

It is the "just different" thing which the buyer shuns because it might prove a white elephant, or "which your neighbor hasn't" the courage to wear at the bridge club, which makes Paris the inspiration of the world when it comes to fashions.

It is the removable train which is practical and useful or it may be the simplest cretonne tunic bordered in old-fashioned unbleached muslin with slip of the collar or ropes of tiny enameled mirrors cascading from a quaint creation of formal satin and silve lace.

FASHION NOTES

NARROW BANDING

Narrow bandings of fur seem to be preferred to wide ones on the newest street dresses and coats.

HIGH TRIMMING

One mark of distinction to the fall fashions is their high trimming. There is apt to be a bow, stick-up or feather across the front that gives height and dash.

FASHIONABLE SCARFS

The most fashionable scarfs are not so large or so important as they were during the summer and are most frequently attached so as to form a part of the gown.

LITTLE RUFFLES

A most unusual effect is achieved by rows of little ruffles of fur on a long moleskin wrap.

SHADED FURS

Shaded furs are seen this season, those shading from gray to black or from beige to dark brown being particularly lovely.

LACE WIGS

Wigs of silver or gold lace are seen over the sleek shingled heads that are the rule in Paris.

BAD CASE OF ECZEMA ON BODY

Itched and Burned Badly. Cuticura Healed.

"I had a bad case of eczema. It first appeared in pimples on my neck, and spread to my face, arms, and body. The pimples were not very large, but they itched and itched and burned so badly that I could not rest for scratching. My face was a sight, and my clothing aggravated the breaking out on my body."

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it I could see an improvement. I purchased more and now I am completely healed." (Signed) Miss Sallie V. Knight, Box 151, McWen, N. C., Apr. 25, 1924.

HELPFUL HINTS

CLEAN IN SOAPSUDS. If you use the old fashioned irons clean them occasionally by washing in strong soapsuds. This will keep them smooth.

BEATING RUGS. If possible, beat rugs and carpets over a set of bed springs. This is one of the methods of cleaning used by professionals.

STABILIZES VASES. Keep a little sand or a handful of small shot in vases that are so shaped that they are easily tipped. It will prevent much breakage.

TURPENTINE IN BOILER. Put a little turpentine in the wash boiler when you wash clothes, and you will find it has a decidedly whitening effect.

OPEN SANDWICH. An open sandwich of rye bread and minced salmon with tartar sauce is an excellent suggestion for luncheon.

BOYISH SILHOUETTE. Theme of Women's Style of Dresses. By ALICE LAMONT. (Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—It is possible to play scores of melodies on a one-string Chinese fiddle but it takes an artist to do so. That same situation applies to fashion at the moment. For months the one distinguishing feature of feminine style of dress has been the straight, slip boyish silhouette. Great designers and dress makers both in Europe and America are still finding it possible to compose new and charming variations on this theme.

The latest methods of attaining individuality and variety consist of the use of varied and brilliant embroideries, tunic and panels of light mouse line of sole, cleverly used, floating around and accentuating the effect of the silhouette. Afternoon dresses, for example, are raised in Adlerka. Most of the new designs are in the main tissue jersey crepes or velours de Smyrne of many harmonious tones which are set off occasionally by touches and long tight sleeves of black satin.

The evening dresses are light and frothy in the extreme, much more so, in fact, than those worn during the warmer weather. They are featured by gauzes and crepes embroidered in designs inspired by old Chinese and Persian manuscripts. In many instances the neck line is very low in the back and higher and round in front. With these costumes are worn marvelous wrap-up coats heavily embroidered in gold, silver or striking shades of black, and stail-like shades of the former drawn in at the wrist by fur cuffs. Frequently these coats terminate at the bottom at a deep and heavy band of the latter material.

One striking evening wrap of the sort is made of three shawl embroidered with Chinese flower designs in black and gold. This garment has a deep four-point collar, a row of black fox with bands of the same fur about the wrists. Occasionally a startling note is introduced in the evening frocks by the addition of long, slender sleeves of such dress, the inner is of black satin with a neckline low in back and heavily embroidered from bust to waist line in gold.

The skirt of this straight tube design is finished with a band of gold lame while long sleeves of gold lame are terminated with bands of satin falling over the hands. The English younger set have started a fashion against the sort, announcing that no longer will they dress like coster mongers, or French apaches. This move seems, however, to meet with little sympathy either in the United States or France. Some of the American flappers have heard Paulette Goddard sing "Mon Homme" seem willing to look, act or dress

UNIVERSITY SQUAD AT INTENSIVE WORK

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Sept. 15.—With the opening game of the season but two weeks removed, the University of Virginia Cavaliers are beginning to feel the lines tighten about them as Coach Neale sends his charges down the field in practice tactics.

Neale, it is said, deferred his scrimmaging practices until this week because of the danger of a repetition of injuries such as was experienced by the squad last year. With what all fans agree is a stiff schedule before him, the Virginia mentor, it is said, was taking no chances and hopes now to be able to have his squad in much better shape for the opener, when the Cavaliers meet the Purple Hurricane of Furman at Charlottesville September 29.

Those who have been keeping in close touch with the Virginia practices are said to feel that the Old Dominion's eleven is developing under much better prospects than last season. It has been the necessity of rebuilding his line that has worried Neale, fans say. And while the material on hand is said to lack varsity experience, the rigorous schedule of training is expected to round them into good shape to step into the shoes of the veterans who have departed the Cavalier greenward.

AMERICAN RACE IS TIED; PIRATES WIN

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The world's champion Yankees finally caught Washington in the American League race today by winning from Chicago as the Senators lost their second straight game to Detroit. The two teams are tied for the first place with 82 games won and 59 lost, with the Tigers four contests behind.

In the only game played in the National League, Pittsburgh won an up-and-down battle from Boston in 12 innings and is now only one and one-half games behind Brooklyn which trails the Giants by one contest.

The three important battles were hard fought. The Yankees won from the White Sox 2 to 0 on four hits off Faber and Connally as Sam Jones beat Mogridge and Russell by the same score as Collins held the Senators to four blunders. The veteran Babe Adams started the Pirates off on another winning game before he retired for Morrison.

AMERICAN

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—New York tied Washington for first place in the American League pennant race today by shutting out Chicago 2 to 0, while the Senators were defeated by Detroit.

The world's champions gleamed only four hits off "Red" Faber, but two of Faber's passes developed runs. With a walk, a sacrifice and Ruth's single scored the first run and the second came in the fourth on a walk. Pipp, Meusel's single and a double play which retired Meusel and Hoffman, Pipp scoring.

The White Sox collected seven hits off Sam Jones, but the fielding behind him was spectacular. With men on third and one out, Kammler lined to Dugan in the fourth inning. Dugan caught the ball off his shoe strings and doubled Sheely off third, retiring the side. The only other chance the White Sox had to score was in the eighth with men on second and third but Jones hooked over the third strike on Hooper. Collins was then passed, but Sheely was an easy out.

"RIP" COLLINS, IN GREAT FORM, BEATS SENATORS
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 15.—"Rip" Collins, sometimes called the "luckiest pitcher in the American League," pitched brilliant ball for Detroit to shut out Washington 2 to 0 today dropping the Senators to a tie with New York for the league lead.

Mogridge's southpaw offerings were hit safely nine times while Collins was holding Washington to four singles, only two of which were made in the same inning. Collins doubled and a single by Manush gave Detroit the first score, and Rigney's two base hit ahead of a single by O'Rourke accounted for the second.

Chance's Career In Major Leagues

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago American League club, who died in Los Angeles tonight, had never assumed personal charge of the team of which he was named pilot last fall. Ill health compelled his return to his California home a few days after he came here this spring to join the club when it completed its spring training. His duties had been performed by Johnny Evers, acting manager.

The "peerless leader" as he was known to baseball fans, previously had piloted a Chicago club as manager, captain and first baseman of the Chicago National League team. He succeeded Seale as manager of the Cubs in 1905.

The Chicago won three national league pennants and two world's championships during the time Chance was their manager.

Chance's career in baseball began when he left college at Irwin, Calif., to join the Cubs, which was the only professional club with which he had played. He was used as a catcher at first, but later developed into a first baseman under Manager Seale.

Chance became a member of the Cubs almost as a boy, playing first behind the bat. Later at the height of the Cubs' winning streak he was known as the key man of the famous baseball triangle of Trinker, Evers and Chance. With Trinker at shortstop, Evers at second and Chance at first, the trio became famous for their ability to make double plays.

As manager of the Cubs, Chance won his first pennant in 1906 and added his baseball glory by winning the world's series. He won both the league pennant and the world baseball title again in 1907.

Chance's Cubs won but two world's series, but in the two more years, 1908 and 1910, they again were the leaders of the National League.

His health improved at even such an early date, he left the east and went to the Pacific coast, where in 1916, he took over the management of the Los Angeles Angels and developed them into a pennant winning team.

Again, attacked by ill health, Chance left the Los Angeles club in the middle of the season and remained away from baseball until 1923 when he became a member of the Boston Americans.

Early this year, after he had been made manager of the Chicago White Sox he again was stricken and entered upon a spell of illness from which he never fully recovered.

An asthma attack, resulting from an influenza attack prevented him joining the team. After spending some time at Palm Springs, Cal., a health resort, he came to Chicago at the opening of the season but a recurrence of the asthma compelled his return to the Pacific coast.

BRITISH WIN SIX METRE YACHT CUP
(By The Associated Press)
OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 15.—England won the international six metre yacht racing cup from America today by making the 7th and final event in the series. The Britons scored four victories to three for the United States.

The British triumph received an apparent final decision scored by the Americans on Saturday, with a score of 4 to 2. The British protested the race of the American boat Dauphin, which crossed the line first and when the protest was allowed by the racing committee, the Dauphin was disqualified and Saturday's race awarded to the British. Each team had then won three races and the English reached the four necessary to win today.

YANKEES WIN OVER CUBS WHILE SENATORS, UNABLE TO HIT 'RIP' COLLINS, LOSE

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Yankees and Giants, defendants in baseball's trojan war, enjoy the smiles of the watching gods today in their efforts to retain the game's fairest prize, the world's series, captured and carried here three seasons back.

Forced from their position by Washington, the straggling Achilles of the combat, the Yankees took the field after being informed by the oracle that the team which lost the fewest games would win the battle, Huggins, carefully following the advice, went into a tie with Washington by winning from Chicago 2 to 0.

The Senators, vulnerable only in Detroit, it seems, lost the second consecutive game to the Tigers who made the same of one contest and are now only four games behind the two leaders. The score was 2 to 0.

At the National League gate, the Giants faced a favorable problem, the Robins, who struck from within the harbor without. Both Robins and Giants rested yesterday to gird for the Corsairs who are making vivid preparations to slaughter the Pirates on the following Wednesday.

The advancing Buccaneers completed their sack of Boston yesterday by winning the third straight game 4 to 3 in 12 innings and will attempt to advance upon this baseball metropolis through Philadelphia. Pittsburgh, gaining a half game on both, now trails the Robins by one and one-half games and the Giants by two and one-half games. They have 16 games to play. New York has 13 and Brooklyn 11.

The deciding battles yesterday with the contending teams concentrating upon every pitched ball, were closely fought. The grim Yankee veterans, taking advantage of previous experience, executed two bases on balls into runs necessary to win from Chicago and won the victory on four hits. Dugan's fielding and Jones pitching prevented the White Sox from tying on two occasions.

Washington lost its precious one-game lead through inability to hit "Rip" Collins, who pitched a four hit game as the Tigers applied sufficient Adams to Mogridge to win. Babe Adams, who worked here for 15 years ago, who has come back from the baseball grave to steady his youthful mates in their splendid challenge, left the game at Boston for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning and was replaced by the advantage scored by Pirate bats in that frame and the twelfth.

The Browns defeated the Red Sox 4 to 3 in the only game played among the distance clubs yesterday. It was the final contest between the two for the season.

Another Kind of Diabetes.

When the word "diabetes" is used one thinks of the disease that is often treated with insulin and characterized by sugar in the urine. There is another kind of diabetes. It is treated by another extract of the ductless gland. In it there is no sugar in the urine. The name by which it goes is "diabetes insipidus."

In diabetes insipidus a very large amount of urine is voided in 24 hours, but it does not contain sugar. In one case the amount passed in a day and night was almost nine gallons, and one to two gallons is noted in many cases. As a rule rest is very much disturbed by the frequent calls at night.

Chemical examination shows a very large quantity, a very low specific gravity, a pale color, and absence of sugar. Occasionally a little albumin and a few casts are found in the specimen.

Diabetes insipidus is merely a combination of symptoms. The other members of the combination are great thirst, dry mouth, dry skin, goose flesh, shivering, chilliness, mottling of the skin, and an overwhelming appetite.

For the combination there is an assortment of causes, such as fracture of the skull, brain tumor, fright, emotional storms, and certain kinds of illness.

In many of the cases no cause can be found.

As a rule the condition is very chronic. There is a record of one person who had diabetes insipidus for more than 50 years, and of several who had it more than 30 years.

The treatment consists of injecting an extract made from the posterior lobe of the pituitary body, known as "Pituitary Extract." This extract has been found to be a considerable experience with diabetes insipidus. It has gotten good results from this treatment. The extract is given with some success by means of spray into the nose.

Possibly this extra may be of service in controlling the disturbing night urination that figures in chronic Bright's disease. Possibly it might make the nights of old people more restful.

We know something certain about the extracts of the pancreas. Thyroid extract is used to control certain diseases. Extract of the parathyroid gland has long been known to be of value in the treatment of tetany, and extract of the pituitary is used in the treatment of diabetes insipidus. Possibly there are some new fields for endocrine extracts opened up.

Not all backward children are feeble-minded or worse. It is entirely possible that your child is merely backward and will eventually reach the standard level of intelligence.

Carolina's Line Worries Fetters

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Sept. 15.—

Picking men for line positions on the University varsity is a task that is causing Coaches Bob and Bill Fetter no small worry at the moment. Freshman ends and a guard must be selected to replace regulars for last year, and there may be shifts in the other four positions.

Joe Epstein, Rocky Mount boy, who played a sensational defensive game against V. M. I. last year, appears to be slated for one of the end berths.

Russell Braswell, another Rocky Mount boy, has been given temporary assignment at the other wing position. Braswell was a star in the freshman line two years ago and got into several varsity games last year.

Rudolph Jackson, of New Bern, is being tried out at Charles Fointer's place at guard. This is a mighty honor and assignment and doubtless Jackson will have to take on many corners before he can make himself feel at home. Jackson did good work last season as substitute.

The others trying out for the line held regular positions last year's line-up and will give all comers competition aplenty. Captain Pierce Matthews and Clayton Hawfield are at tackle. Chris Fordham is at the other guard position and Herman Melver is at center.

The line-up of the tentative first-string team today was composed of the following: Merritt, Sparrow, Underwood and Bonner, backs; Epstein and Braswell, ends; Matthews and Hawfield, tackles; Chris Fordham and Rudolph Jackson, guards, and Melver, center.

As things look now, candidates for the backfield are going to have a hard time depriving Merritt, Sparrow and Bonner of berths. Selection of the fourth member of the quartet is a matter of mere speculation. Although the Fetters have been running him with another team, Billy Devin at this writing probably has the best look-in at quarterback.

Other backfield candidates who look good include Emmet Underwood, of Fayetteville, letter man of last season; Jeff Fordham, of Greensboro, who developed rapidly last year; Charlie Gold of Greensboro; Walter Woodson, of Salisbury; S. B. Teague, of Statesville; Bunn Hackney, of Durham, captain of last year's freshman team; Redmond Hall, of New Haven, and Charles McManis, of Elizabeth City, both of last year's freshmen.

The Carolina camp has been divided into five teams that are now going through light workouts twice daily.

Signal drills are occupying most attention, though not a little time is being devoted to passing and kicking. And there are daily pictures on theory.

It is too early to forecast the probable line-up for the opening game with Wake Forest in the Baptist camp on Saturday, September 27. At present the berths belong to any candidate who can qualify.

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 15.—President Zaldívar, in a letter to both candidates for the presidency in the November elections, yesterday afternoon said that he desired to "cheerfully offer the most efficacious guarantee of impartiality, respect and protection to the rights of the citizens" in the political campaigns from now on.

The president also requested that both candidates assist by conferring with him.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 15.—The roar of racing motors and the hum of busy spectators had died down today for Jim Murphy. The body of the champion automobile driver who met death in a 150 mile contest on the New York state fair grounds track yesterday was being borne back across the continent to the home in Vernon, California, where he had known from early boyhood.

With Murphy on his latest ride were the drivers against whom he had pitted his skill in his last race—and to whom he had lost. Before the race these drivers, and Murphy, had arranged to take the train on which they finally did leave.

When the time for departure came at 12:35 o'clock this morning, it was a sad little group, which gathered in the train shed of the New York Central station here and with bowed heads watched the corpse of their friend and comrade placed aboard the baggage car of the Lakeshore limited, while they entered a car farther back.

Arrival in Los Angeles is scheduled for Friday afternoon when Murphy's body will be taken to the home of his uncle, Judge Martin O'Donnell, in Vernon, a suburb of Los Angeles.

FOOTBALL QUESTIONS

If You Have Some Question to Ask About Football Write—

LAWRENCE PERRY,
Special Football Correspondent of The Bee, 814 World Building, New York

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

QUESTION—In a game on a muddy field a player tackles the back carrying the ball who has reached the defending player's two yard line. The ball carrier is downed but slides on across the goal line. Is this a touch-down? The tackler of course goes over the line grasping the back.

ANSWER—Not according to the rules committee who in an opinion on the subject says the ball should go back to the two yard line, or where ever first tackled Rule 8, Section 13 (A) is brought forth. Cannot see that it applies. In other words, were the writer the referee he would feel the scoring side was rightfully entitled to its score. On the other hand the approved rule of the Rules Committee and not the referee's personal opinion is the thing that stands.

QUESTION—In a football game played with the fouls of play a back very close to the field of play a back carries the ball over the line and then fumbles it. In the scramble to get it the ball bounds over the fence. A member of the team which has carried the ball back of the line scales the fence and falls on the ball. Is this a touch-down?

ANSWER—Yes, unless there has been a ground rule to some other effect.

QUESTION—Reports from college centers where teams are preparing for the season indicate that coaches are beating the rule against kicking off from a ten yard line. Is there any rule that will prevent this? Or any referee's interpretation of the rule that would?

ANSWER—No, the purpose of this rule is to put a stop to delays in the game caused by building fees. There would be nothing to prevent the ball being kicked from a ten yard line.

QUESTION—Some coaches say the ball should be held at a kick-off as it is used to be held in goal after a touch-down. Can this be done?

ANSWER—Such a tactic has been reported from various college grounds. But it may not be done in a game since there is a rule that all players must be behind the ball at the kick-off. Some coaches are going to be surprised when the officials spring this on them.

QUESTION—Before a ball is put in play a man of the offensive team is running. May he be in motion before the ball is snapped?

ANSWER—He may be if he is running obliquely or directly toward his own goal, and is five yards back of the scrimmage line when the ball is snapped.

Victory Today by U. S. Polo Players
Will Clinch Series

(By The Associated Press.)
WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 15.—America will seek to add another trophy to her rapidly growing collection of international athletic laurels today in the second match of the polo series with Great Britain. The United States, now in possession of the international challenge cup, won the first match Saturday by a score of 10 to 4 and needs only a victory today to clinch the series.

The cup defenders and challengers both will enter the game with revised lineups. America lost the service of her rack number three, Malcom Stevenson, who was injured in the last chucker of the first game, and will start Robert D. Strawbridge, Jr., in his place. The invaders, making a desperate final attempt to change their fortunes, will take the place of newcomers in the two forward positions.

With favorable weather, a crowd of close to 40,000, including the Prince of Wales, is expected to witness the game.

Admirers Storm
Car of Jackie
Coogan Aboard

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Sept. 15.—Exciting scenes were enacted outside of St. James' palace today when several thousand persons, mostly women and children in an effort to see Jackie Coogan, stormed the motor car in which the youthful actor had arrived for the purpose of seeing the palace guard changed.

Women fought with one another for positions of vantage and Jackie was extricated from the melee with difficulty by his father, who carried him on his shoulders into the palace from where they saw the guard changed.

There was a similar crush when the young actor returned to his car. Several policemen finally mounted the running board and escorted the car through the jam.

Two Wounded In New York "War"

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Two men were seriously wounded in a lower East Side gang war today. The attacking gunmen, who had fired a score of shots in a street filled with men, women and children, escaped in an automobile.

Four gunmen opened fire on Mike De Falis, of Brooklyn, as he left an east Houston street shoe shining shop. He returned the fire as he ran and emptied his pistol before he dropped with bullets in his head, chest and a leg. A waiter who was passing by as the fight opened, was shot under the heart.

The police attributed the shooting to a bootlegger war.

FIREWORKS AT DANVILLE FAIR

A magnificent display of fireworks will be seen every night during the Danville Fair, beginning Tuesday, October 14th. The fair is sparing no expense to make the display this year the finest ever seen in Danville.

Many novel features will be shown which are entirely new. Thousands of electric bulbs are used to light the grounds at night so the merry crowd can enjoy the midway and other amusement features.

2.—Is there any set way that a runner must turn after crossing first base on a hit, in returning to that base? —V. B. N.

3.—A says that a pitcher in a minor league who used the spitball delivery prior to the majors legislating against it, could use the spitball if secured by some major league club. B claims that only pitchers in the majors at the time the delivery was eliminated, had the right to continue to use it in the big leagues. Who is right? —D. N.

ANSWERS

1.—The batsman was entitled to two bases on the fly ball that the fielder caught after jumping into restricted territory. The runners on second and third were entitled to score on the hit.

2.—There is no set rule as to how a runner should turn in returning to first after reaching and crossing that base. Only when he makes an attempt to go to second does he make himself liable to be put out.

3.—B is right. No pitcher can come into the majors now and use the spitball delivery, even though he used such a style of pitching in the minor prior to the delivery being legislated out of the majors.

Football Training Season Begins

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—More than 1,000 athletes will answer the booming call of the football today at the leading schools of the east and midwest for the second training session of the season.

In the east, Yale, Harvard and Princeton swung into action yesterday following the initial workouts last week by Cornell, Columbia and others. In the west, the squads of the big ten, Notre Dame and other eleven which obscure the conference rivals, met with their coaches for the first time.

Harvard led in the turnout with 122 candidates, the second largest ever assembled at Cambridge. Yale and Princeton reported squads of 60. Estimates of 50 to 160 were given for the conference clubs. Iowa had the lowest mark of 12. Notre Dame, strong in football tradition, had its usual squad, approaching 100.

BEGIN SKIRMISHES
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The first call for football practice answered in all the western conference universities, the western coaches have begun preliminary skirmishes designed to weed out the scores of candidates and veterans who have reported.

Scout parties are numerous on most fields. Squads ranged from a hundred at Indiana, to forty at Chicago. Replacing vacancies in last year's eleven was the first concern of most of the coaches.

Frank Dodson, "iron man" of the Colts, will report next season to the Yankees. He has won twenty-two and lost 14 games this year, and his sale to Miller Huggins outfit will be the second time he has been given a tryout in the big show. He was released by Detroit to Rochester and then to the locals two years ago because of lack of control.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Scraping American warships in accordance with the Washington disarmament pact will mean an immediate saving to the government of $25,000,000, Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur told congregations of the Temple Baptist and Wilshire boulevard congregational churches here last night.

Secretary Wilbur explained that the sum mentioned covered only construction cost and that it would have cost an additional $40,000,000 annually to maintain the 25 ships 12 of them practically new, which have been ordered scrapped. The navy's total annual expenditures, he said, averaged around $350,000,000.

FRANK CHANCE, NOTABLE FIGURE IN THE BASEBALL WORLD, DIES IN THE WEST

(By The Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Frank Chance, California banker's son, whose brilliant baseball career won him the sobriquet of "peerless leader" of the National game, is dead. He faded quietly into unconsciousness and death at a hospital here last night after a long uphill battle against failing health.

Chance, who led the Chicago Cubs to four National League pennants and two world series victories and managed at various times the Boston Americans, the New York Americans and the Los Angeles club of the Pacific coast league, was manager of the Chicago White Sox.

He went east last winter to take over the reins of the Chicago club but became ill with influenza and returned to the coast for a rest. He returned to Chicago in time for the historic game between Chicago and New York. Illness overtook him again, however, and in a few weeks he was back in southern California, fighting his game fight against overwhelming odds.

At time he seemed to be recovering from combination of asthma and heart trouble which clung to him after his attack of influenza and when he celebrated his 47th birthday here a week ago he appeared to be gaining strength.

Later yesterday, however, he became worse and his physician ordered him taken to a hospital but he had been there only a short time when he died.

Chance is survived by his widow.

Single Play Made Gave Chance Part
Control of Club

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Frank Chance, the "peerless leader" who died last night in Los Angeles, gained part ownership of the team he so frequently led to victory through a single play he once recalled. The only play netted him $140,000, since his stock in the club soared to that value.

It was in 1906, as Chance told it, and the Chicago Nationals were in second place fighting for the pennant and with only a few more games to play. In a hot game at Cincinnati, Chance hit safely and stole second with one out. Joe Tinker, shortstop, and then a heavy hitter, was at bat. Every one expected Tinker to swing heavily. But Chance signalled for a bunt. Tinker laid down a perfect bunt and Chance streaked for third. The "peerless leader" did not stop but headed for home, sliding in safely.

Next day Charles P. Taft, the new owner of the Cubs, sent for his manager.

"Frank," Chance quoted him as saying, "that was the greatest play I ever saw or ever expect to see. I am going to show you that I appreciate your work and efforts. I am going to let you buy a tenth interest in the club for $10,000."

Chance sold out for $140,000 after he left the club in 1912.

Dundee, only a skeleton of the former ring idol of the famous Dundee-Leonard days, fought a losing fight all the way, his experience in the ring and his knowledge of the finer points of ring technique saving him from being knocked out by the younger Bernstein.

publisher of one of the most prominent photoplay magazines.

With another newspaper reporter, a rich man's son in excellent financial standing, they had been refused jobs by every city editor in New York. Quirk bet "1-to-3" that he could see any editor in New York.

At the time all New York was agog over the disappearance of an actor, facing a criminal charge.

Quirk walked into a newspaper office, wrote a note that he was the man's lawyer and had the actor with him, ready to talk.

Needless to say, the city editor came a rushing. Quirk won the bet and $15. It gave him a new lease on his youthful ambition to become a publisher.

Bad luck had been following John Jacobson. When two gypsy women appeared at his home he permitted them to bless his life savings of $1,680. He would have been blessed out of his savings if two detectives had not arrived a moment later. Jacobson now thinks he is in good luck.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The last hour of yesterday's market trading made a bad impression on a good many people and still when you analyze what sort of a market we have had recently it should not surprise you. A large part of the daily trading recently has been professional. Professional operations make no net change in the ownership of securities. Most of the transactions are covered up before the day is before so that they sell stocks in the morning they buy in the afternoon. If they buy in the morning they sell in the afternoon. And when the public is not naturally what they are going to have a continuation of conservative government that I say take advantage of the breaks and buy.

MORNING GRAIN LETTER

(Courtesy Thomson and McKinnon.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Liverpool firmness yesterday in face of our decline Saturday, together with the large export sales yesterday show you the urgent needs of importers. The Winnipeg Free State estimate of 256,000,000 for three western provinces compares with government estimate of 267,000,000 bushels. Yesterday's buying was mainly export account, therefore no heavy liquidation is likely.

POTATOES

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Potatoes trading very slow. Market about steady on early Ohio, weak on other stock. Minnesota sacked early Ohio, 1.20 @ 1.30; round sacked whites, 1.20 @ 1.30; Wisconsin sacked whites, 1.25 @ 1.35; Kansas and Missouri Irish cabbages, 1.30 @ 1.35; Colorado sacked brown beauties, 2.00.

POULTRY

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Live poultry irregular. No freight quotations. Chickens by express, 24 @ 25; fowls by express, 19 @ 22. Dressed poultry steady. Chickens 22 @ 24.

FINE TOBACCO EXHIBIT

The tobacco exhibit at the Danville Fair this year will be on a large scale. Liberal cash prizes are offered for lemon, orange and mahogany wrappers, bright and dark cigars, cutters and export leaf and granulating leaf. Special cash prizes for Henry County types and African leaf. The department is in charge of Geo. A. Lea, C. B. Davis and H. L. Boatwright and special attention will be given to the display of the different types. Tobacco growers everywhere will profit by a visit to this exhibit as every section of the old belt will be represented. No charge is made for space in this department. The exhibit is one of the most important features of the Danville Fair, October 14th to 17th—four days, four nights.

HAS DUAL PERSONALITY AND SCIENCE IS PUZZLED

By L. C. OWEN

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

(REKELEY, Cal., Sept. 15.—

Science as an adjunct to crime detection is winning new laurels each passing day. Hypnosis has just aroused

Carl Black, former University of Illinois law student, from a condition of amnesia which gave him a dual personality. As an aftermath, the Berkeley police department's famous lie-detecting machine may prove him to have been a very active burglar while submerged in the subconscious self.

For two weeks now, Black has been perplexing center of interest for more than a score of local physicians, psychiatrists, criminologists, psychology

students and criminologists of the University of California. The burglar role hasn't been proven on him yet—but indications are that it will be.

The alleged sub-conscious Raffles was picked up by a couple of police officers on a street in San Francisco midnight ago in an exclusive residential section where numerous burglaries recently have been perpetrated. Taken to the station house, it was found that he was in a seemingly sane condition and unable to give his name or tell anything about himself. While police questioned him, he fell asleep

in a chair and the most violent efforts of the police were insufficient to rouse him. Police found in his possession indicated his name might be Carl Black, but cast no other light on his antecedents or personal history. Scientific tests showed no evidence of alcoholic influence.

For three days thereafter the suspect lay in a local hospital in a comatose condition. Then he seemingly awoke, apparently normal. He verified the papers regarding his name, said that he was the son of a wealthy rancher in Northern California, adding that he was a student of the University of California. Then he went back to sleep again and continued wooing Morpheus without interruption until last Saturday.

Meanwhile local police, investigating his story, found that the rancher's son whom the suspect claimed to be,

was safe on his father's farm, making hay and that if the sleepy suspect was a University of California student he had never taken the trouble to enroll.

When the suspect again awoke last Saturday, he reiterated his story without a single deviation. No amount of questioning could shake him. There was another result. Pulse and heart action both indicated that, despite his denials, he knew more about almost almost a score of recent Berkeley housebreakings than he cared to admit.

Scientists who had been interest-edly watching the case promptly pronounced the case one of those baffling instances of amnesia in which the victim assumes a subconscious dual personality. Hypnosis than was tried as a possible means of bringing the suspect back to his real self. Under its thrall he immediately became a changed personality.

Carl Black picked up his right name, declared, but he denied knowing the man whose son he had claimed to be.

He asserted he never had been in the town where his alleged father lived, and had never attended a local university student. His home, he said, was Paris, Ill., where his father was a prosperous merchant. Also, he said he had been a university of Illinois law student. Regarding his movements for the last three months he was unable to remember anything.

Again the police tried the lie de-detector. Although the second test covered the very reverse of the story which already had been stamped as the truth, the second story of his identity showed the same result.

There was no pulse reactions and no troubled heart beats.

In added tests to determine whether Black might be the Berkeley Raffles, the results also vindicated his normal self. Apparently he knows nothing about the alleged secondary jobs, while in his other personality the lie-detecting machine indicates his guilt.
